

Welcome, professor

Use these statements to introduce the professor, and the topic they'll be talking about.

Today we welcome Professor [person's first name] to [name of your choice] university. They've spent their whole career investigating the effects of climate change on the planet and have written many books including, 'Climates and Primates' and 'Is it global warming or is it just hot in here?' Welcome, professor.

Today we welcome Professor [person's first name] to [name of your choice] university. They're the world's leading expert on space exploration and have worked at NASA for many years. They're here today to explain why exploring space is essential for understanding our own place in the universe. Welcome, professor.

Today we welcome Professor [person's first name] to [name of your choice] university. They've been researching political developments and believe that the voting age should be lowered to 16 to enable young people to have a stronger voice in society. In this lecture, they'll explain why they think that is. Welcome, professor.

Today we welcome Professor [person's first name] to [name of your choice] university. They're the world's leading expert on global warming and believe that young people will be the ones to lead the fight against climate change. In this guest lecture they'll explain why that is and what young people can do next. Welcome, professor.

Today we welcome Professor [person's first name] to [name of your choice] university. They believe that money spent on space exploration should be spent on more pressing needs such as making sure global communities have enough food. They'll explain why they've been living in a tent outside parliament for the last three years to protest on this topic. Welcome, professor.

Today we welcome Professor [person's first name] to [name of your choice] university. They've been a lecturer and member of parliament for many years and they believe that lowering the voting age would be disastrous. You may have seen their controversial appearance on the news last night. We hope you managed to get that egg off your tie, professor. Welcome, professor.

Today we welcome Professor [person's first name] to [name of your choice] university. They'll explain why they believe that animals should have the same rights as humans. I've read a copy of their latest book, 'Let them run free! Why animals should never be kept in captivity.' Welcome, professor.

Today we welcome Professor [person's first name] to [name of your choice] university. They're the country's leading researcher into vegan diets and they believe that a diet completely free from any animal products is the healthiest and most ethical. Don't worry, professor, I'm wearing vegan shoes today! Welcome, professor.