

Dearest Rani,

I didn't take much for the journey when I left home but these memories are so precious to me. I know you'll be leaving at some point soon or in the future
- I wanted to you to have the same encouragement I had as I walked away from home.

I pray these make it to you, and you make it to safety.

Love, Mia x

Ali's 18th birthday! These were happier times. I can't believe that I'm adding another little person to our big family. You used to love it when we were all together - do you remember the games you'd make us play? x

Delicious stew! You loved these so much, you made me take a photo. One day we'll eat these together again. x

So much changed before I left, but so much stayed the same too. The market was still on, but the days of fresh fruit were getting rarer. I hope you still have food.
