

All things crypto!

Scenarios

Scenario 1: Jamie's Success

Last year, Jamie bought some Bitcoin after hearing about it online. Back then, it was worth only about £100 for a whole Bitcoin. Jamie's parents thought it was a bit risky, but Jamie convinced them to try a small amount. Now, the value has jumped to over £20,000 for one Bitcoin! Jamie's small investment has grown into a big profit.

- How do you think Jamie feels about this surprise windfall?
- If Jamie could give advice to friends who want to invest, what might it be?
- Do you think Jamie's story would happen to everyone who buys Bitcoin? Why or why not?

Scenario 2: Sam's loss

Last year, Sam was excited about cryptocurrency and bought some coins after hearing friends talk about it. But shortly after, the price dropped suddenly and kept falling. Sam's coins lost most of their value. Sam feels disappointed and a bit worried about what to do next.

- How do you think Sam feels right now?
- What advice might Sam give to other young investors to avoid losing money?
- What lessons can Sam and others learn from this experience?

Scenario 3: The future of money

Your school is thinking about using cryptocurrency for school trips and events instead of cash. Some students are excited, but others are worried.

- What could be good about using cryptocurrency at school?
- What problems might happen?
- How could the school make sure everyone understands and feels safe using it?
