

“Loot boxes can tempt young people to spend money even when they don’t know what they are going to get.”

“Influencers are so overhyped. Nobody really takes them seriously because it’s obvious they’re just doing it for the money.”

“Unrealistic beauty standards online aren’t really a problem because everybody knows that nobody looks like that naturally anyway.”

“When young people see their friends talking about an online trend, they’re more likely to feel pressured to join in.”

“Targeted advertising is annoying, repetitive and makes people less likely to buy things.”
